...Pastor John

From a Day of Thanksgiving to the Season of Advent...Living Life Gratefully!

The work of living a "grateful" life is hard. It requires focus, persistence, and stamina. We read the story of Jesus' healing of 10 Leprous men at our Thanksgiving Eve "Full" service.

Luke 17:11-19 The Message:

It happened that as he made his way toward Jerusalem, he crossed over the border between Samaria and Galilee. As he entered a village, ten men, all lepers, met him. They kept their distance but raised their voices, calling out, "Jesus, Master, have mercy on us!" Taking a good look at them, he said, "Go, show yourselves to the priests." They went, and while still on their way, became clean. One of them, when he realized that he was healed, turned around and came back, shouting his gratitude, glorifying God. He kneeled at Jesus' feet, so grateful. He couldn't thank him enough—and he was a Samaritan.

Only 1 of 10 Lepers returned to give thanks to Jesus, the "healer" who told them to show themselves to the priests. Jesus did this so that these "diseased men" could be declared clean and welcomed back into the full fellowship of the community by the officers of the Synagogue. The only one who returned was a man from another country, an outsider, possibly a non-believer. Despite this classification, I wonder if he was one who was raised to live a life of gratitude.

Our work for this season is to proclaim, show, and live out our faith. We will see many Christmas specials before Christmas Day that will show us a "human" condition which might be transformed by a kind act, a mystical snowfall, a heroic gesture, all to culminate with some sort of a carol that might give us good feelings during the Christmas season.

But the thing that I believe has to be shown is that, like Jesus' ministry, we would all be blessed if we see 1 in 10 to be people who live a grateful life - one in which genuine gratitude is shared with others.

To train up grateful people requires the same energy and commitment we'd expect from a winning team. Gratefulness takes practice - being able to see an opportunity to be grateful and then act. The season of Advent can help us do some hardcore training because this is the season of preparation and waiting. Advent provides times and places for us to bless others, even "outsiders," and to offer blessings of health, healing, cleansing, and renewal.

The Advent season has lots of "to dos." Christmas decorations ARE a witness. Packing meals and ringing bells ARE service as is purchasing items for others that fill their needs and bringing gladness to the monotonous and toilsome days of our co-workers and neighbors. This is the practice needed for all people.

So, where do we start?

In our own lives! Try to see kind gestures and appreciate them. Listen for words of blessing. Pause long enough to hear the response to your question, "How are you?" and then when the response is given, thank the person for the time they took to answer you.

It might sound a bit simple, but the point is this, we celebrate God's Son who came to save us from the sins that burden us and sins that separate us from others. To recognize this blessing and to respond with gratitude gives us a good start at being grateful, both to the healer AND to others.

Join me this Advent in seeking to be grateful in our responses to the many blessings we receive each day; it's a wonderful way to live! With this attitude of gratitude, we might find ourselves being a kinder, healthier, and more approachable person during a very dark season of our year.

PEACE, PASTOR JOHN'S PEN
